STUDENT RULE AT TUSKEGEE

Dignity of Labor and Military Discipline Prevail.

THE GREAT AIM OF THE SCHOOL

Inside View of the Government of the Student Body of an Institution in Which Work is Never Prescribed as a Punishment For Disobedience How the System Works.

The series of articles by Arthur M. Evans on the work of the Tuskegee (Ala.) institute which appeared in the Chicago Record-Herald last spring were highly instructive. To persons who are interested in helping the school in a financial way the success of the institution is indeed gratifying.

Industry, as every one knows, is the spirit of Tuskegee, and military discipline is its system of government. From the moment the rising whistle blows at 5 o'clock until the "lights go out" at night every moment of the time is occupied. Work is in the atmosphere; industry is made a habit—the great aim of the school.

At Tuskegee refractory students are punished, not by setting them at extra tasks, but by giving them no work to do. The great idea of the institute is to drill into the students the principle that labor is a privilege; hence work is never prescribed as a punishment, for that would be an inconsistency.

Enforced idleness proves penalty enough, and after less than a day of lounging, a misfit in a busy community, a drone among the workers, the disobedient student generally goes to the commandant and begs to be put to work like the rest of his comrades.

The discipline is admirable. Ever since the opening of the school the students have been on a military system of some sort. The first day the student body assembled thirty years ago it marched to chapel, and it has been doing so ever since.

It is a sight never to be forgotten to see 1,700 students march into the great dining hall at noon, said to be the largest dining room in the country, and stand at attention until grace is sung.

Then the silence is broken, chairs are pulled out, and conversation starts up with such a roar that the band is kept playing in the balcony to drown the noise. There is nothing boisterous, but 1,700 voices engaged in simultaneous talk make rather a cataract of sound. Visitors rarely fail to comment upon the table manners of the students. At Tuskegee table manners are as much a part of the curriculum as is work in the shops or recitations in the classrooms. The man at the head of the table does the serving, assisted by a student on each side. The students are served, and the rule of the school is that each shall eat everything that is placed upon his plate without passing remarks upon the cooking, if, indeed, such remarks could be made.

The food comes fresh from the institute farm, raised by the students, cooked by the students, served by the students and eaten by the students, and the variety of edibles placed on the table serves as another object lesson of the benefits derived from skillful labor on the soil.

The student who goes out from Tuskegee is so accustomed to an excellent table that, if a farmer, he at once prepares to raise all the vegetables in their season, his farm becomes an object lesson for the surrounding community and gradually leads to a higher standard of living.

Bishop Coppin Dedicates New Church.

The handsome new Ebenezer A. M. E. church, located on Bethel street, Hagerstown, Md., was recently dedicated with imposing services. The dedication sermon was preached by Bishop Levi J. Coppin of Philadelphia. The church is one of the handsomest in western Maryland, and its completion is a credit to the efforts of its pastor, Rev. David Johnson. The Rev. Mr. Johnson is one of the most energetic of the younger ministers of the Baltimore conference. Through his efforts the conference will hold its next annual session in the above named church in Hagerstown.

An Independent Race Organization.

Among younger organizations for civic betterment in Detroit, Mich., is the Afro-American alliance. The object of the organization as indicated above is to do uplift work among our people by encouraging them in business and professional life. It is independent and not bound by any political ties. It believes in a square deal for every American citizen and is against discrimination on account of race or color.

CAPABLE BUSINESS MAN.

Estimate of Harry H. Pace as Leader in Many Movements.

By GEORGE FRANCIS KING.
Memphis, Tenn.—Strength of character, intelligence and the power to bring results for the conservation of the race's cardinal interest should be the great requisites of men who manage the affairs of racial fraternal and commercial movements. When an organization has as its head a conservative, energetic, experienced and Christian leader it should give such leadership its undivided support.

It is only by such union and hearty co-operation that the race can ultimately triumph over obstacles which arise to impede its forward movement for the good of humanity irrespective of from what source they may come.

Harry H. Pace of this city is a concrete example of the kind of character whose most excellent qualities have been catalogued in the above paragraphs. The position of the Afro-American Elks in this country is obvious to any casual observer, and its peculiar exigencies in quite a degree are known to have been caused by unfortunate controversies in the ranks.

All of these things created an urgent need for a leader like Mr. Pace, who has become the seer of the fraternity and has given it a new lease on a beneficial existence. The activities of Mr. Pace as grand exalted ruler are to be considered as a helpful leaven in the life of thousands of Afro-Americans.

The character of a leader is very often a sure index of the desires of those whom he leads. Mr. Pace is a man of sterling worth. His work for the church is not abridged by his affiliations with other movements. He is secretary of the vestry in Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal church and directs the talented choir. He is a recognized factor in Masonic circles.

Mr. Pace is cashier of the Solvent Savings Bank and Trust company and is at the head of a large estate, which employs a great number of men. He is also secretary of the Republican county committee.

HOWARD'S NEXT PRESIDENT.

Many Men of Prominence Mentioned For Coveted Position.

The selection of a new president for Howard university in Washington will not be an easy matter. There is no dearth of candidates, but to discover from the array of material the man of intellectual breadth, moral strength, winning personality, constructive genius and executive ability, such as Dr. Thirkield is and what his successor must be, will tax the wisdom of the board of trustees, to which body this duty will fall.

It is evident that there will be no undue haste in filling the vacancy, and the fitness of every candidate will be fully tested before a choice is decided upon. Since the financial future of the university is practically secure because of the federal appropriations that will come year after year the argument that a white man must head the school in order to influence congressional favor becomes less forceful.

There is a general feeling that the time is ripe for the election of a competent colored man for a school that is essentially a Negro institution, though not officially styled as such. Many of the white members of the board and of congress have expressed themselves in sympathy with this idea and will lend their support to the right colored man brought forward for the position. Friends of the school are raking the country with a fine tooth comb in their effort to pick out a Negro educator who is likely to fill the bill.

Some of those mentioned in this connection are Kelly Miller, George W. Cook, Lewis B. Moore, W. V. Tunnell and E. L. Parks, all deans of departments or members of the present faculty of the university; Roscoe Conkling Bruce, assistant superintendent of the Washington schools; Judge Robert H. Terrell of the municipal court; W. E. B. DuBois, H. T. Kealing and others of equal prominence.

Popular Teacher to Wed Minister.

Miss Martha Johnson, a popular young schoolteacher, and the Rev. Leonard A. Carter, pastor of St. Luke's M. E. church, Reisterstown, Md., will be the principals in a pretty wedding which is to take place on Wednesday, June 26. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. John A. Holmes, pastor of Metropolitan M. E. church, Baltimore. Rev. Mr. Carter is a member of the Washington M. E. conference.

Friend of Great Men Dies.

Jackson Gordon, the sixty-two-year-old messenger in the office of the board of assessors, who is said to have known more "great men" than any other Negro in Chicago, died recently. He lived at 3435 South Wabash avenue and had held his position fourteen years. Among the acquaintances he claimed were James G. Blaine, Presidents Garfield, Hayes and Harrison and the late Carter Harrison. He at one time worked for Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. He became acquainted with many notabilities as messenger or usher for large conventions.

YOUNG WOMAN OF RARE TALENT

Concert and Stage Work of Miss Minnie Brown.

FEATURED RED ROSE BALLAD.

Brief Account of the Notable Career of a Western Girl Who Has Won a National Reputation as a Vocalist—Instructor in the Musical Settlement School.

New York.—One of the most accomplished and highly gifted singers of the race, who has made a national reputation in the art, is Miss Minnie Brown, the leading soprano soloist at St. Mark's M. E. church, in this city. Miss Brown has a remarkably clear and sweet voice of wonderful range and under perfect control. So wonderful is the sweetness and charm of her voice that she has earned the sobriquet of the human mocking bird.

Miss Brown has had a notable musical career. She has toured the country in concert work. For six years she was a member of the Williams & Walker company and for one year was a member of the "Load of Coal" company, which was the first company put on the road by Bert Williams.

During her long career in concert work and on the stage she made a national reputation as one of the most thoroughly accomplished singers of the race. Miss Brown hails from the west and was born in Spokane, Wash. Her parents were pioneers of the west and represented the sturdy type of western settlers of years ago.

At an early age she showed a leaning toward a musical career, and her parents encouraged every effort in that direction. She graduated from the Spokane high school. After graduation she took up the study of voice culture under Mrs. Ethel Child Walton.

Miss Brown attributes a great deal of her success in her musical career to the interest of her teacher. She began her career as a concert singer in her native home. Her tour through British Columbia and adjoining cities was very successful and opened up the way for the larger possibilities which awaited her. On coming east she joined the Williams & Walker company.

For six years she remained with the company and won a place among the foremost of the talented aggregation. It was while with Williams & Walker that Miss Brown won her national reputation in featuring the song "The Red Rose," then the most popular ballad of the day, which she sang with decided success.

Miss Brown will be remembered all over the country by the large number of patrons of this famous company. Her tour with "Load of Coal" ended her stage career. Since taking up her residence in New York Miss Brown has been a force in the musical life of the city.

She is one of the teachers in the Musical School Settlement for colored children in New York. She stands high in the musical circles of the country and in New York is constantly in demand as a singer. Miss Brown is a young woman of remarkable strength of character and is a splendid example to the young women of the race.

With all of her culture and charm of personality Miss Brown remains the same modest and unassuming young woman which she was before winning her laurels in the musical world. She is ever ready to assist in any good movement for the advancement of the race. She has a large circle of friends in the religious, social and educational life of the city.

WORK OF EXCELSIOR LODGE.

Knights of Pythias Held Annual Exercises and Hear Sermon.

The recent anniversary exercises of Excelsior lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias, held at the Concord Baptist church, in Brooklyn, were attended by members of the order throughout Greater New York and vicinity. State Grand Chancellor Crawford presided and gave an interesting sketch of the progress of the order in New York state.

The order numbers upward of 196,000 members in the United States and is credited with having an adequate endowment fund. The Court of Calanthe has an aggregate membership of 52,000. The date of founding of the order was given as Feb. 19, 1864, in Washington.

The members of Excelsior lodge and of the various companies of the uniform rank present were in full regalia and presented a beautiful scene as they marched into the church with glittering swords with firm military step. The annual address to the organization was delivered by the Rev. Dr. William M. Moss, whose subject was "True Friendship."

Dr. Moss dwelt at length upon the origin of the order and gave in detail the history of Damon and Pythias. He drew many apt illustrations showing the benefits of true friendship. The annual statement of the grand keeper of records and seals showed to what extent the lodge had grown during the year in finance and membership.

Grand Chancellor Crawford stated that the order was making progress in California. "The grand lodge recently instituted in California," said the grand chancellor, "has given new impetus to the order in the west, and we look forward with renewed hope and encouragement along all lines of our work."

WINS LAURELS AS ATHLETE.

Colored Man is Making an Excellent Record at Harvard University.

He won against Yale college with a throw of 154 feet 4 inches and won first place in a broad jump, 22 feet 10 1/2 inches.

He won first place at the intercollegiate meeting at Philadelphia with a throw of 102 feet 4 inches. He was born in Indianapolis, was graduated from Shortridge high school in 1908, graduated from Phillips Exeter preparatory school in 1909 and is in his second year at Harvard.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION.

New England Body Guest of Union School in Orange.

Orange, N. J.—The nineteenth annual meeting of the New England Baptist Sunday school convention was held at the Union Baptist church in this town for two days, beginning on Tuesday, June 11. The sessions were presided over by the president, N. B. Dodson.

Delegates were present from all sections of the convention's jurisdiction, which includes eight states, the District of Columbia, Haiti and Nova Scotia. The annual meeting of the board of managers preceded the opening session of the convention. The report of the board showed that during the fiscal year educational institutions, missions and charitable organizations had received financial assistance from the convention amounting to nearly $200.

After a brief devotional service, which was led by New Jersey's delegates, President Dodson called the convention to order, read the rules of order and appointed the various committees. The address of welcome was delivered by L. B. Minor, superintendent of the Union Baptist Sunday school. Mr. Minor's welcome was received with hearty applause.

The response was made by William Murray of Hartford, Conn. The committee on enrollment of delegates made a partial report, which showed that representatives from some thirty-six schools and Baptist Young People's units were present. Congregational singing, the table offertory and a beautifully rendered vocal solo by Miss Willie Moss concluded the morning session.

Among the interesting topics discussed were: "How to Secure Better Qualified Teachers in the Sunday School," "What Should the Sunday School Do to Offset the Present Tendency Toward Worldliness Among Young People?" "What Is the Best Method of Doing Missionary Work in the Sunday School?" The first topic was led by C. C. Allison, Jr., of New York and the second by Mrs. Mary A. Tribbitt of Philadelphia.

A full report of the work of the convention, giving the names of the newly elected officers and board of managers, will be made at the close of the New England Baptist missionary convention, of which the Sunday school convention is a part. President Dodson's annual address contained many helpful suggestions for Sunday school workers.

NEW REGIME AT MILES COLLEGE

President James A. Bray Removed by Bishop Stewart.

ALLEGED CAUSE OF CHANGE.

Well Known Educator, Who Made Big Birmingham School Great Seat of Learning, Succeeded by Mr. C. A. Bell—Business Methods Not So Pleasing to Presiding Bishop.

Birmingham, Ala.—Bishop C. W. Stewart has removed James A. Bray from the presidency of Miles Memorial college. Bishop Stewart is the treasurer of the institution, and as such President Bray requested that he should account for the money raised for the work of the school.

This seemed to displease the bishop and is the cause, so it is alleged, of his removing Dr. Bray from the head of the college. The action took place at a recent meeting of the executive board. Professor Bray is one of the best known educators of the race in this section of the south. C. A. Bell is his successor.

Miles Memorial college is maintained by the Alabama conferences of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church and has been brought up by Dr. Bray to a commanding position as an educational institution. It is one of the best known of the denominational schools in the south and is supported largely by members of the Colored Methodist Episcopal church.

Much indignation is felt and expressed throughout the state and particularly in the Birmingham district over the removal of Dr. Bray. He is highly respected and of much influence in the community. Many people feel that in this particular period of the school's history the effort should have been made to retain at the head of the school a man of known ability and experience, who could continue the influential and constructive policy that has characterized Dr. Bray's administration.

It is also charged that Bishop Stewart used the power of his office to remove Dr. Bray, forcing his self appointed and packed board of trustees to do his bidding. Practically all of the men are presiding elders whom he has appointed to office. To make assurance doubly sure two board members who were said to favor Dr. Bray's retention were transferred to other conferences in the midst of the conference year and their positions on the board of trustees declared vacant.

The commencement marked the close of a most successful year, twenty-five young people finishing from the various departments. The baccalaureate sermon was preached by Dr. J. A. Whitte, pastor of the First Baptist church, Birmingham, and the annual address was delivered by Dr. J. D. Simpson, president of Birmingham college, a local institution maintained by the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

In a statement which he has made public Dr. Bray declares that Bishop Stewart took offense because he insisted on an accounting of money used in the erection of the new dormitory now in course of erection, suggesting that, inasmuch as the general education board had given $5,000 of the amount and that a goodly portion of it had been secured from the white and colored business men of the community, it would be well to make a report that would show the disposition of the funds.

This position, Dr. Bray declares, was made rather emphatic by reason of a statement from Dr. Buttrick that further donations to this and other institutions of similar character would be predicated upon the disposition and handling of this particular donation. "I have always tried to recognize my responsibility to the public as head of an institution," says Dr. Bray. "Many people contribute to the institution through my solicitation, and I have always made a faithful report of all moneys passing through my hands. It was no more than meeting my responsibility squarely to insist that as long as I was president of the institution the treasurer should make faithful reports. The fact that he was a bishop made him none the less responsible as a treasurer."

Progress Noted at Thyne Institute. Thyne institute, at Chase City, Va., continues to turn out well equipped graduates from its normal and academic grades. The satisfactory average of students in the various departments for the school year which closed recently is encouraging to both faculty and friends of the institution who aid it financially.

ON JUDGES.

Judges ought to be more learned than witty, more reverent than plausible and more advised than confident. Above all things, integrity is their portion and proper virtue.—Bacon.

He who the sword of heaven will bear Should be as holy as severe, Pattern in himself to know, Grace to stand and virtue go, More nor less to others paying Than by self offenses weighing. Shame to him whose cruel striking Kills for faults of his own liking! —Shakespeare.

Four things belong to a judge—to hear courteously, to answer wisely, to consider soberly and to decide impartially.—Socrates.

"DON'TS" FOR OFFICIALS.

Don't show anger.
Don't raise your voice.
Don't suspect people of intent to do wrong.
Don't tell people you suspect them of intent to do wrong.
Don't forget to try to deny a request when you must deny it in such a way that the petitioner is grateful.
Don't forget, when you find a citizen evading the law or playing a trick which must make you angry, if you have red blood, that self restraint is a double victory. It saves your strength and disappoints him.
Don't forget that public officials are to help citizens, not to trouble them.
Don't forget that courtesy to fellow employees makes for efficiency.
Don't forget that the borough president will find it just as hard as any of you to live up to these hints.
Don't forget to read this every day.—Cyrus C. Miller, President of Bronx Borough, New York.

WOMAN AND THE BALLOT.

I am not one of those who believe suffrage should be conferred on any individual because he is a man or denied any individual because she is a woman. The duty of suffrage should be conferred solely with reference to the needs of good and wise government, and women are quite as well able to deal with such issues as men. Nor am I one of those who believe that the polling place is unfit for a good woman to frequent. If this should be so it must be changed or the republic cannot endure. Still less do I agree with the degrading argument that suffrage should be conferred upon women because it will benefit them. Suffrage must be a duty and not a privilege.—Dr. Talcott Williams, Director of Pulitzer School of Journalism.

OPPORTUNITY.

The busy world shoves angrily aside
The man who stands with arms akimbo set
Until occasion tell him what to do,
And he who waits to have his task marked out
Shall die and leave his errand unfulfilled.
—Lowell.

Zeal and duty are not slow,
But on occasion's forelock watchful wait.
—Milton.

There is a tide in the affairs of men
Which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune;
Omitted, all the voyage of their life
Is bound in shallows and in miseries.
—Shakespeare.

BISHOP DERRICK MAKES CORRECTION.

FLUSHING, L. I.,
June 14, 1912

TO THE EDITOR OF THE RECORDER.
INDIANAPOLIS, IND.

Dear Sir:—
In your issue of the 1st inst., a copy of which has been recently placed in my hand, appears the following paragraph:

"Rev. Smythe Goes to Island"
"Dr. and Mrs. Smythe returned Friday of last week from Kansas City, Mo., where they attended the general conference. Dr. Smythe was appointed assistant to Bishop Derrick over Michigan, Ontario, Nova Scotia, Bermuda, South America, and the West Indies, with headquarters in Hamilton, Bermuda. The field is large and the bishop's health is on the decline. Dr. and Mrs. Smythe will sail from New York July 1, for the new field."

Will you permit me, Mr. Editor, to contradict the above statement so far as it refers to the appointment of Rev. Smythe as my assistant, I knew nothing of the appointment until I saw the announcement in your paper. No such appointment has ever been made. I am entirely at a loss to understand why such a statement should have been given to the press. I may also say that certain conditions have arisen which made it necessary for me to cancel Dr. Smythe's appointment to the pastorate of St. Paul A. M. E. church, Hamilton, Bermuda.

Thanking you for this kindness,
Yours Sincerely,
Wm. B. Derrick.

16th Session of W. M. M. Society.

The 16th session of the conference branch of the Woman's Mite Missionary Society of the A. M. The people of Rockville, spared no pains to entertain the convention and make the delegates feel at home. Several distinguished ministers were in attendance at the convention and added much interest to the proceedings. Among the visitors was Mrs. Mary F. Handy of Baltimore, National President of the W. M. M. society. Resolutions were adopted thanking the different divines for their presence and support; Mrs. G. B. Hill for her loyalty and sincerity; Mrs. Mayme Gardner for the gift of the gavel of her deceased husband and her untiring work as cor. sec'y; to the Executive Committee for the seal; The following officers were elected: Pres., Gertrude B. Hill, Indianapolis; 1st vice, Stella Pettiford, Terre Haute; 2nd vice, Della Craven, Terre Haute; cor. sec., Bessie Thomas, Indianapolis; rec. sec., Vessie Evans, Bloomington; treas., Susie Dyson, Marion; ch'm Rescue work, Georgia Ratliffe, Rockville; members of Executive Board, Millie Hawkins, Washington, Mary L. ## WORK OF BETHEL CHURCH SHOWN

BACK FROM WESTERN TRIP.

Pleasing Scenes En Route to Kansas City and Interesting Features of the Recent General Conference Afford Abundant Material For Descriptive Lecture—Women Conduct Band.

By Miss ELIZABETH JONES.
Pittsburgh.—Interest in the work of Bethel A. M. E. church continues to grow. The Rev. Dr. P. A. Scott has thoroughly demonstrated his ability as a leader during his brief pastorate in this city. The membership of Bethel has been largely increased and plans perfected for the full development of all departments of the church.
On his return from the general conference of the A. M. E. church, recently held in Kansas City, Mo., Dr. Scott delivered a most excellent discourse to the congregation, taking for his subject "Echoes of the General Conference." The address covered a wide field of thought and activity touching the work of the denomination.
Dr. Scott said in part: "My trip to Kansas City covered a period of three weeks. I was charmed with the scenery as I passed through Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. I was especially impressed with the evenness of the landscape and the richness of the soil. Upon reaching the Union station in St. Louis I was especially attracted by the beauty and grandeur of that great structure, which I believe to be more magnificent than the Union station in Washington.
"I visited many of the places of interest in this great western metropolis and admired its beautiful buildings, but noticed that they are not so high as the buildings in many eastern cities. Upon inquiry I was informed that the strong winds that frequently strike that section make it unsafe to erect buildings to such extreme heights.
"I reached Kansas City safely and found it to be a 'thing of beauty' as it glittered in the matchless gleam of a western cloudless sky. I was driven to Allen chapel, a most beautiful church edifice, the seat of the conference. There I met the brain and culture of the great African Methodist church from all parts of the world. Not only were there ministers, but all the professions and walks of life were represented by the laity.
"The activity of the women delegates to the conference was very marked. They took part in every phase of the work and displayed much experience and good judgment in the discussions following the various reports and addresses. The address of Dr. Booker T. Washington was listened to by a great throng of some 10,000 people. His subject was 'The Mission of the A. M. E. Church to the Masses of Our People.'
"A great chorus of 150 singers under the direction of Professor Jackson of the Western university, at Quindaro, Kan., made the music for the occasion. I am sure I have never heard such music. Mrs. Marie Burton of Chicago was one of the singers and displayed marvelous vocal powers. Starting with tones soft and soothing, her voice rose and swelled and rolled until it filled the great convention hall with wondrous volume. It has been said that the west produces the finest voices, and the musical features of this conference seemed to completely verify the claim.
"An interesting feature during the closing week was music rendered by a brass band of colored women. They were fourteen in number, and their manipulation of the instruments was superb. While listening to them I thought if I could establish such a band among the women of my race in Pittsburgh I would be highly gratified.
"I wish to thank all who helped to make this trip possible for me and feel sure that any one who will attend these great gatherings will be more than repaid for the time and expense of such a trip."
Rev. Scott carried his audience with delightful rapidity in thought from Pittsburgh through Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas into Kansas City and through the business of the general conference.

Home For Colored People Proposed.
Mrs. W. W. Delarte delivered an address to the International Ministerial meeting at the Carlton avenue branch Y. M. C. A. in Brooklyn recently, her subject being "A Plea of the Colored Woman." Mrs. Delarte told briefly the result of her investigation in what might be termed the slum district and said that it is the opinion generally that a home for delinquent colored people should be established in Brooklyn. Dr. William A. Alexander of the Sloop Presbyterian church read a paper on "Judas Iscariot."

Good Reminder For Mayor Harrison.
The Illinois Idea, Chicago, thinks that it would be wisdom on the part of Mayor Harrison to appoint an Afro-American on the new board of education, members of which will soon be chosen by the city's chief magistrate. The thought is born of good intentions, and as there are many capable and well educated members of the race in Chicago it ought not to be a hard matter for the mayor to make an acceptable selection.

THE IDEAL HOUSE.

If you have sense and feeling determine what sort of a house will be fit for you. Determine to work for it, to get it and to die in it, if the Lord will—I mean one that you can entirely enjoy and manage, but which you will not be proud of, except as you make it charming in its modesty.—John Ruskin.

DIFFICULTIES.

Difficulties strengthen the mind as labor the body.—Seneca.

It cannot be too often repeated that it is not helps, but obstacles, not facilities, but difficulties, that make men.—W. Matthews.

Difficulties show men what they are. In case of any difficulty God has pitted you against a rough antagonist that you may be a conqueror, and this cannot be without toll.—Epictetus.

What is difficulty? Only a word indicating the degree of strength requisite for accomplishing particular objects, a mere notice of the necessity of exertion, a bugbear to children and fools, only a stimulus to men.—Samuel Warren.

Difficulties are God's errands, and when we are sent upon them we should esteem it a proof of God's confidence—as a compliment from him.—H. W. Beecher.

SPEED CRAZY.

We as a nation have gone speed crazy, and the railroads, against their better judgment, are putting on limited trains to meet the demands of those who would dart from city to city in what half a century ago would have seemed the twinkling of an eye. And the strange part of it is that the people most anxious to get to some place in a hurry are really in no hurry at all. More belong to the leisurely than to the business class. Who pays the price for this speed? The engineer. Out of every hundred men who become firemen seven graduate to the freight locomotive cab; six live to haul passenger trains. If there is anything in Darwin's theory it is proved by the locomotive engineer. He is the survivor of the fittest, and you can't make him in a day.—Warren S. Stone, Chief of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

Splendid Work of the Rev. D. J. Jenkins
Rev. D. J. Jenkins, founder and president of the orphanage which bears his name in Charleston, S. C., is doing a splendid work of uplift among the people. He not only keeps the institution up to a high standard of efficiency in its work and care for the orphans, but takes a leading part in all good movements for the benefit of the race in the community. The Rev. Mr. Jenkins is also the successful pastor of the New Tabernacle Fourth Baptist church.

Flanner Guild.

The Flanner Guild is conducting a financial campaign to raise money to pay for the many needed repairs that the Board of Directors has ordered to be made. There are nine teams working for the cause, the members and captains of which will be published, with the amount of money raised by each at the end of the campaign. Reports will be received from the captains on June 27-28-29. The campaign closes on the 29th. Two prizes will be offered. The first prize consists of one half dozen cut glass glasses, to be given to the captain whose team raises the largest amount of money over five dollars. The second prize consists of one silver berry spoon, with the name of the prize winner engraved there on, to be given to the captain whose team raises the second largest amount of money over and above five dollars. Some of the captains are having unusual success. They are proving that the colored citizens are interested in Flanner Guild, and desire that it be well equipped to carry on its work. We greatly appreciate this interest taken in the Flanner Guild cause. Any person who has not been approached by one of our authorized solicitors and who desire to contribute to this, the only institution of its kind in the state for Negroes, please call the Flanner Guild or mail the same to us. Names of all donors to be published at the close of the campaign, unless we are requested not to do so.

IS LIFE WORTH WHILE?

Text, "My soul is weary of my life."—
Job x, 1.

"Is life really worth while?" Every person who has lived truly and deeply and borne his own and a little more of the world's burden of care and responsibility has asked that question at some time or other. The evolutionist tells us whence we have come, the theologian whither we are going. The great central fact remains that we are here. We waken to find ourselves on a swift sailing ocean steamer, from what port and especially to what port must give us mighty serious thought. Vexing, mysterious, tantalizing as are birth and death that life in between baffles us still more. Woe unto you if your foot slips or you lose your grip when money, friends, youth and health are going. Then your fight is a desperate one, with the knowledge that you are not equal to it and eventually must go under. Soon the snow reaches not only your head, but your heart. Time marches relentlessly on. Your daily grind is for the food necessary to sustain those dependent on you. Hope is vanishing. Opportunities have gone, new doors do not open. It is too late in the day to turn back. You daren't step out of line—there's a dozen to take your place. Ambitions are checked, personality is robbed, power of initiative most gone, you live because you have to, you are part of a mighty, merciless machine.

Perspective.

One of the most tragic conditions into which a human soul ever drifts is that of melancholy for which there may not be a real reason. You can fight real troubles, actual grief. The thing that cannot be fought is the intangible. An obsession is worse than a reality. A trifle may seem tremendous. A cinder may erase a landscape. "In God We Trust" may be held so close to the eye that it blot out the sun. The defect of Chinese art to our western eyes is its lack of perspective. Figures of men a mile away are as large as those in the foreground. The eye gets no real sense of distance. The fisherman who has caught a big fish has it photographed at his side. If it is little he suspends it closer to the camera and steps back. To detect the fraud use a stereoscope. Its two lenses will restore the perspective, the sense of "looking through" the air, and you will see a big man standing back of a little fish. Lots of our troubles are magnified. We hold them well forward. Many of us take life too seriously. Atlas-like we carry the world on our shoulders. We insist on always carrying the heavy end of the log. We make the mistake of being too obliging. It's all up to us, we assume, and the world steps back most ungrudgingly and says, "Sure." Remember the maxim of the willing horse.

Life's Unending Marathon.

Bravely and heroically, with the mist and dashing rain in his eyes, the burden bearer says, "Pshaw, I mustn't give way. My day isn't done yet." He tries to call back the air castles of long ago, but the body tires, the brain throbs, the crowd pushes harder. Younger, stronger men are fighting greedily, frantically, for the position he's holding with weakening hands, as a climber on the side of a precipice. His means will not permit him to "day by" for old age. He fears the day when he can no longer work or is crowded out while he is still able and willing. He dreads the reproach in the eyes if not in the voice of those who look upon him as the provider rather than the sacrificer. He has tried to be a good son, a faithful husband, a kind father, but intuition tells him that the very ones he has slaved for will some day look on him as a burden. Meanwhile he must plod on. He is a slave and cannot flee. He wouldn't if he could. Duty has been his watchword so long that he knows no other. His hardest work brings little results and still less gratitude. The fight grows sharper and his blade is dull. Who blames him if he sobs "My soul is weary of my life?"

The Maze of Mirrors.

Life is an illusion—not a delusion, mind you. Your anticipations were never promised you. As a boy you were taught to look forward to the White House and the presidency, but no one could promise it to you. Secretly your mother prayed that you might become good enough to be a minister. The things you had hoped for were made up in your imagination. They are seldom realized. It's a wise and merciful arrangement that they are not. You began life with illusions—distance, shape, color were deceiving. All life's experience is a correction of these illusions. One's only real delusion is that all things, all avenues, should reflect back yourself, like the maze of mirrors at the world's fair. When you come to die you will say, "The game wasn't worth the candle; and it wasn't for such a candle. Do you know when it was that Solomon said 'All is vanity'?" It was when he had sucked the orange dry. When luxurious food and costly wine and sumptuous clothes, and beautiful women no longer aroused his senses. He had lived for Solomon alone. A greater than Solomon shared his life and made it an eternal success.

We Bury Colored People :-

We conduct colored funerals from our chapel.

We cremate colored people if it is desired.

We give them the same careful service we do any one else. Colored people very often call up and ask if we bury colored people or if we conduct colored funerals from our chapel. We do. We refuse no one. Our prices are always the lowest consistent with good service.

PROUD SOUTH AMERICA.

If there is any idea left in the American mind that the United States may ultimately annex any South American country it had better be forgotten permanently. Annexation would not be desirable for either side. We can easily retain all the commercial benefits of association with these countries without assuming new territorial responsibilities. The good will of the South Americans is worth a good deal to us. They are not like the Mexicans or the Filipinos or even the Central Americans. They are a proud people, and their culture—a fact which is usually forgotten, but which is important in understanding the situation—is much older than ours. There were universities in South America long before the pilgrims landed on Plymouth rock. Twenty-five per cent of the population can read and write. They are not barbaric, and they don't need "uplifting." If the United States ever tries to "uplift" them by annexation they will ally themselves with Germany or some other European country. In many states of Brazil the legal forms used are already those of Germany.—Charles W. Furlong.
